NO.1 BUSINESS SCHOOL IN THE US RANKED BY BLOOMBERG BUSINESSWEEK IN 2014

The Fuqua School of Business at Duke University in Durham, North Carolina, has established itself as one of the leading business schools in the world. It has a strong network of more than 22,000 alumni across the world. Fuqua is deeply committed to East Asia. Through its relationship with Duke Kunshan University, a regional office space in downtown Shanghai, and an alumni presence throughout the region, Fuqua is an active and engaged member of this fast-growing and dynamic region.

“ To me, the Career Management Center is one of the most valuable parts of the MMS: Duke Kunshan program. It not only provided me with a lot of industry insights and conventions that are not usually taught in class, but also smoothed my transition from student to professional through one-on-one coaching and mock interviews. As a result, I felt much more prepared entering the intense recruiting season. ”

– Zhongxiang Xue, Class of 2015, China
Junior Research Analyst
McKinsey & Company

WORLD-CLASS FACULTY

Fuqua’s world-renowned faculty are eager to help you succeed in your coursework and beyond. Student-faculty interactions inside and outside the classroom provide ample opportunity to learn from and form relationships with some of the greatest business minds in the world.

TEAM-BASED LEARNING

To simulate today’s team-oriented corporate environment, the class is divided into smaller learning teams. Each team is hand-picked to maximize diversity and the opportunity to learn from one another. You will participate in team-building activities where you learn how to work together effectively and develop problem-solving, communication and leadership skills.

CASE-STUDY PARTICIPATION

Classes use real business cases as the basis for classroom discussions and team assignments, challenging you to understand business problems from a hands-on perspective. As you work through these real-life examples, you will gain a new vocabulary, industry knowledge and an appreciation for the management and leadership challenges companies face every day.

MASTER-LEVEL RIGOR

Expect advanced material and prepare to move through it quickly. Our courses are quantitatively demanding and require you to have a strong analytical aptitude.
